

Year one: from launch to a full calendar

A working plan for the two of us. It covers September 2026 through August 2027: what we sell, where customers come from, what it costs, and what we do each quarter.

Drafted September 10, 2026 · Las Vegas, Henderson, Summerlin, North Las Vegas

$216K Year-one revenue target, inside our $150–300K range	48 Installed jobs, about 4 a month on average	$4,500 Average job, whole-room and whole-home work	~$1,000 Monthly marketing, about 5% of revenue
---	---	---	---

WHERE WE STAND

What we’re starting with

Most new window treatment companies start with one product line and no web presence. We start with three supply tiers, dealer status with the two best-known names in the category, and a working lead system.

- Hunter Douglas and Alta Window Fashions dealerships, secured.
- Superior Blinds MFG, our local factory for the entry tier, secured, with short lead times and sharp pricing.
- A website that books consultations: product and city pages built for search, a consultation form, a thank-you page, and a confirmation email to every lead.
- A Google Business Profile, live and linked to the site, and a sitemap submitted to Search Console.
- A Google Ads campaign drafted at $25 a day, with a call button.
- Our edge: the two of us measure and install every job, and our website keeps getting better, with local city pages and, in time, a place for customers to follow their project after the sale.

THE WEBSITE KEEPS GROWING

Toward a client portal

The website is never finished. Every quarter it gets something new, working toward a private portal where each customer follows their project from the first visit to installation day and beyond. It keeps customers informed without phone tag, and it turns our cheapest lead sources, reviews, referrals, and job photos, into one tap for a happy customer.

PORTAL FEATURE	WHAT THE CUSTOMER GETS
Project tracker	A live timeline: consultation, quote, ordered, in production, shipped, installation date.
Photos	Before and after photos of their own home, and a place to share their own. With permission, the best ones go in our gallery.
Reviews	A review request the day after installation, with one tap through to Google.
Referrals	A personal referral link, a list of who they've referred, and the status of each $100 reward.
Documents	Their quote, invoice, warranty details, and care guides in one place.
Payments	Pay the balance online on installation day.
Service	Request a repair, an adjustment, or help with motorization, and book a follow-up visit.

Built in steps, not all at once

A full login portal before we have 20 customers is a lot of building for very few users. Each quarter below adds a piece that's useful by itself: an internal job tracker first, then referral links and review requests, then a private project page for each customer, and finally the full portal. We build it ourselves on the website's existing hosting, so the cost is time, not money.

Good, better, best on every quote

Every consultation ends with three options for the same windows, one from each tier. Price shoppers have somewhere to land, most people pick the middle, and the top tier makes the middle look reasonable.

GOOD	BETTER · THE USUAL PICK	BEST
Superior Blinds MFG Our local factory. Faux wood blinds, roller and solar shades, verticals, and entry-level shutters. Wins rentals, flips, and budget-first buyers, with the fastest lead time.	Alta Window Fashions A brand-name mid tier: cellular, roman, woven wood, and composite shutters. Quality a homeowner can feel, at a price that closes.	Hunter Douglas The name people already know, plus PowerView motorization. For whole-home jobs, west-facing glass, and anyone who asks for "the best."

Motorization on every quote

Offer motorization as an add-on line on every job with hard-to-reach or west-facing windows. It raises the ticket, it's a real answer to Las Vegas afternoon heat, and it's what most separates us from the budget installers.

THE MATH

How 17 leads become 5 jobs

At full pace, from spring on, we need about 5 installs a month. Working backward with typical in-home numbers for an owner who sells and installs:

Leads		17
Consults booked		12–13
Jobs sold		5

Assumes about 75% of leads book a visit and we close 40% of visits

ESTIMATE .

The year, month by month

PERIOD	JOBS / MONTH	JOBS	REVENUE
Sep–Nov 2026 · launch	2	6	$27,000
Dec 2026–Feb 2027 · slow season	3	9	$40,500
Mar–May 2027 · heat builds	5	15	$67,500
Jun–Aug 2027 · peak heat	6	18	$81,000
Year one		48	$216,000

THE MONEY

What year one leaves us

These are planning numbers, not accounting.

LINE	YEAR ONE
Revenue, 48 jobs at $4,500	$216,000
Product and install materials, about 55% ESTIMATE	–$118,800
Gross profit, about 45%	$97,200
Marketing, about $1,000 a month	–$12,000
Vehicle, fuel, insurance, tools, samples, software ESTIMATE	–$15,000
Left for the two of us, before taxes	$70,200

The biggest levers

Every point of margin is worth about $2,200 a year at this volume, and every extra job is worth about $2,000 in profit. Selling Alta over the Superior line, adding motorization, and cutting remakes all matter more than squeezing the ad budget.

Payment terms

- 50% deposit when the order is placed, balance on installation day. The deposit covers the vendor invoice, so we never carry product cost ourselves.
- The quote itself stays free with no deposit, as the website promises.

GETTING FOUND

A lean marketing budget

Paid ads bring the first leads while reviews, referrals, and search rankings build. As those free channels grow, ads become a smaller share of where our work comes from.

CHANNEL	WHAT WE DO	PER MONTH
Google Ads	$25 a day on search, with a call button. Pause bad search terms every week.	$760
Neighbor drops	20–30 door hangers around every install, with a QR code that tags the lead as coming from a flyer.	$100
Referral reward	$100 to a customer for each referral that books an installation. We only pay when a job closes.	~$100
Google Business Profile	Photos from every job, a post every week or two, and a review request after every install.	Free
Dealer programs	Get listed on the Hunter Douglas and Alta dealer locators. Ask both reps about co-op ad money and sample kits.	Free
Partners	Realtors, interior designers, and small builders. One coffee or drop-in visit a week.	Free
Total		~$960

One-time costs: a vehicle magnet and yard signs, about $300.

Quarter by quarter

Launch

Sep–Nov 2026

Goal: 6 installs and our first 5 Google reviews.

- Finish and publish the Google Ads campaign. Decide whether the ad shows our address, and track every visit to the thank-you page as a lead.
- Fill out the Business Profile completely: services, service areas, hours, and 10 or more photos.
- Get dealer locator listings and sample kits from Hunter Douglas and Alta.
- Build one quote template with good, better, and best columns.
- Set up bookkeeping.

WEBSITE Track every thank-you page visit as a lead in Google Ads. Build the internal job tracker (lead, visit, quote, sold, ordered, installed) that the portal will later show to customers.

Build

Dec 2026–Feb 2027

Goal: 9 installs, 15 reviews, and leads coming from more than just ads.

- Start the referral reward and neighbor drops after every install.
- Visit 10 realtors, designers, or builders. Leave sample swatches and cards.
- Use the slow season to book "before summer" motorization and solar shade jobs.
- Add real reviews and project photos to the website.

WEBSITE Give every customer a personal referral link and track who sent whom. Send a review request automatically the day after each install.

Heat season

Mar–May 2027

Goal: 5 installs a month and a clear cost per booked visit.

- Push solar shades, solar screens, and outdoor shading, when west-facing rooms start to bake.
- Raise ads to $35 a day only if a booked consultation is costing less than $150.
- Publish two or three helpful articles, such as shutters versus blinds in Las Vegas heat.

WEBSITE Portal, first version: a private project page for each customer, opened from an emailed link with no password. It shows their project timeline, installation date, quote, and documents.

Peak and decide

Jun–Aug 2027

Goal: 6 installs a month and a decision on help.

- If we're steadily above 6 jobs a month, bring on a part-time install helper so we can keep selling.
- Do a 12-month review: real close rate, margin by tier, and best lead source. Set year two from those numbers.

WEBSITE Full portal: photo sharing, reviews, a referral dashboard with reward status, and online balance payment. Service requests, care guides, and motorization help come next, in year two.

EVERY MONDAY

Our weekly scorecard

Ten minutes, the same seven numbers every week. If a number is off, the table below shows where to look.

NUMBER	TARGET AT FULL PACE	IF IT'S OFF
New leads	4 or more a week	Check ad search terms and the Business Profile.
Consults booked	3 a week	Call new leads within the hour.

NUMBER	TARGET AT FULL PACE	IF IT'S OFF
Close rate	40% or better	Always show three tiers, and follow up within 48 hours.
Average job	$4,500	Offer motorization, and quote whole rooms, not single windows.
Ad cost per lead	Under $60	Pause poor keywords and tighten the location settings.
Google reviews	1 or more a week	Ask in person at installation, then text the link.
Remakes	Zero	Measure twice, and use one measurement sheet.

WHAT COULD GO WRONG

Risks we plan for

RISK	WHAT WE DO ABOUT IT
Vendor delays	Quote realistic lead times for each tier, and tell customers the day a vendor slips.
A bad measurement	One standard measurement sheet, and both of us check large or custom openings.
Relying only on ads	Grow referrals, reviews, and partners every month, so ads bring in less than half our leads by summer.
Cash flow	A 50% deposit on every order, and at least one month of expenses in the bank before we raise ad spend.
Only two of us	Plan for a helper at 6 or more jobs a month, and keep installs out of the worst summer afternoon hours.

Numbers marked ESTIMATE are based on typical results for in-home window treatment dealers.